Scent of malvasia and the character of mediterranean cuisine

SITGES'S CULINARY IDENTITY

A Mediterranean seafaring cuisine with its own unique character based on fish sourced locally, local products and the cuisine.

Sitges combines tradition, authenticity, quality and a way of life connected to the sea.

EMBLEMATIC PRODUCTS THAT EXPLAIN THE TOWN AND THE REGION

Sparkling wines, xató, fish from the coast, espigalls [a leafy green winter vegetable] and other local specialities are associated with the local tradition and history, and any gourmet or foodie has to sample them to enjoy a truly authentic, memorable wine and food experience.

GATEWAY TO THE SEA AND THE Penedès REGION

Sitges connects the mediterranean and wine culture in the same experience, making the town the ideal starting point for discovering the Penedès region from the coast.

1. WELCOME

CULTURAL GASTRONOMY AND YEAR-LONG CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Sitges offers unique culinary experiences all year round: from guided tastings to pairings, show cooking and fresh fish tasting from Sitges's artisan fishers. It's always a good time to learn about and savour Sitges's culinary culture from the inside and enjoy unmissable events in the region like Malvasia Week, Tapa Tapa, The Grape Harvest Festival and the Wine Fair.

SAVOUR THE ESSENCE OF SITGES WITH ITS LOCAL RESTAURATEURS AND CHEFS

Flavours of the sea, recipes with history and creative ideas coexist with a diverse, international culinary scene that reflects Sitges's open, cosmopolitan nature.

MALVASIA DE SITGES

Malvasia de Sitges is history, identity and experience. It is the essential, iconic product for anyone who wants to learn about the foods and wines of Sitges. At the Malvasia Interpretation Centre, you can learn about the origin of this unique wine and its historical connection with the town and enjoy the range of tastings, guided tours and events that it organises. In short, it is a unique product that connects culture and region.
